

Dear Diary,
A musical gift is on its way to someone dear to me.
Oh, how I hope they enjoy it!
I imagine they have never experienced opera delivered to their mailbox before... I cannot wait to learn their reaction!

You have been gifted a unique remote opera experience that will be delivered right to your mailbox. The Beauty That Still Remains is produced by On Site Opera, as part of our season of remote opera productions designed to bring music and stories to audiences during these challenging times of physical distancing. You will soon receive a package containing a replica diary with handwritten diary text that you can hear come to life through online audio recordings performed by opera artists. To learn more about what to expect or if you have questions, please, visit osopera.org. Enjoy!
